The blacksmiths are always on a strike, yet the peers never allow it.

For some excellent specimens of democratic reform, please apply at the white house.

The same article may often be need for the wisest and the worst purposes Kentucky corn makes the best whisky and the best beef in the world.

A good cabinet maker should find a job this winter in Washington. There is plenty of work to do if the administration will let it be done.

In St. Louis a court has decided that the city cannot tax telegraph poles. But the important question is still unsettled whether Russian or Austrian Poles can be taxed.

If Fitz John Porter had fought half as hard while he was in the army during the war as he has to get in the army since the war he would have achieved immortality for heroism and persistence.

The suggestion seems to meet with general approval that ex-Banker of the treasury, B. K. Bruce, shall be appointed a member of the civil service commission. His many qualifications and excellent attainments are recognized by all.

It is estimated that $40,000,000 is annually sent by the Irish in the United States to their friends in the old country. When it is considered that the sum sent ranges from five to fifty dollars each, one can get something of an idea as to the vast number of the Irish people who remember the dear ones in the "old home."

That eminent statesman, J. Sterling Morton, gives sixteen lengthy reasons why silver should be excommunicated from the money of the country. Each one of these reasons is very lengthy and very logical. Some are scriptural and others political, but very few of them, if any, are practical. And very few of our people are nothing if not practical, hence they hold on to silver.

The importance of the railroad traffic of this country is forcibly shown in the following item:

It is said that railway property now constitutes one-fifth of the accumulated capital of the country; gives employment to 650,000 people, and moves 400,000,000 tons of freight annually, one-half of which is fuel and food, and so cheaply that the Massachusetts mechanic can now procure the transportation of a year's supply of food from a distance of one thousand miles for the proceeds of one day's labor.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Jan. 24.—A Hong Kong native paper prints a rumor that the Emperor of China, who is only in his 10th year, intends to form a matrimonial alliance and take the government in his own hands.

That item is worth telegraphing ten thousand miles. It shows how much ahead of the people of America are the people of China. For in this country when a man forms a matrimonial alliance he usually surrenders the government into the hands of the other party.

Another illustration of the rapidity with which riches take wings is seen in the case of ex-Senator Tabor, of Colorado. When he was in congress a few years ago he was the owner of mines, palaces and opera houses; of gorgeous diamonds, beautiful four-in-hands, an Oshkosh wife, and exquisite night-gowns whose elaborate embroidery and wonderful workmanship, placed them ahead of anything recorded in the annals of authentic history. Now it is surprising to learn that he is in New York borrowing money, hausing the pool rooms, taking fliers in wheat and paving the way, he says, to retrieve his fallen fortunes. He was never a great man and it is not unlikely that he will sometime be a poor one.

At last in the house in Kristiansand, Norway, where the patriot and poet, Henrik Wergeland, was born, there has been placed a stone tablet to commemorate his birth. Many anxious souls will be relieved by this announcement. It has been our fear from childhood that no stone tablet would be put in the aforesaid house for the purpose stated. It was the delight of our earliest youthful years to learn the poems of Monsieur Wergeland, of Kristiansand, and recite them in the original; but at that time we could recite Norwegian as well as any other foreign tongue. Hence it is a matter for rejoicing that a tablet in the house at Kristiansand will officially advise visitors that one of the ex-residents of the world was Henrik Wergeland.

The state of Iowa will have some curiosities in the way of school books if the cracks are all allowed to have a hand in their composition. The prohibitionists want their views liberally represented; the greenbacks think their principles should be extensively incorporated; the female suffragists insist that their economic rights should be duly represented and the protectionists and free traders contend that their arguments should be propounded with the juvenile public.

It would be interesting to see how these subjects are to be simplified so as to be comprehended by the infantile intellect. Iowa has the smallest percentage of illiteracy and the greatest variety of factual notions, in proportion to the population of any state in the Union.

While the New York Evening Post, the Springfield Republican, Harper's Weekly and some other magazines, papers refuse to fall into line in condemning the cabinet scandal, some of the most prominent democratic papers are joining republican journals in demanding a change in the following from the Rochester Union and Advertiser (Democratic) will show: "It must be admitted that the state of facts as presented constitutes a public scandal that cannot be glossed over. Prominent democratic journals condemn the actors in it, while the entire republican press in keeping up a continual fire along the line. President Cleveland may, we think, be relied upon to clear the skirts of his administration of any stain that may be upon it through improper relations or conduct on the part of any cabinet officer."

The Dolphin, although long ago decided by eminent democratic authority to be a shell or a skeleton, and although it was sent out to find a storm which would sink it, is like that other historical grecs—it would not, and it will not "down." Nearly every morning after the Senate adjourned has performed his duties, the Dolphin is steered into the senate chamber before the vision of the members, and its merits eulogized and its imperfections decried. The one undeniable fact remains, that notwithstanding all the adverse criticisms and all the virulent attacks and all the depreciation and vilification with which Secretary Chandler and John Rossell were overwhelmed, the Dolphin has been accepted and paid for by Secretary Whitney, and now belongs to the United States navy. It may further be said that this vessel is as good as any that belong to the government—which may perhaps not be extolling it very highly.

For some reason not perfectly clear to the ordinary understanding, Janesville seems to have fewer friends in high places than any other important town in Wisconsin. Other places get beautiful postoffice buildings or magnificent courthouses, or extensive railroad stations, or elaborate hospitals or other edifices, from which they profit at somebody else's expense. But with Janesville the years come and go—the old residents die or move away, the young grow to maturity and the daily events repeat themselves with never ending monotony. We sit by ourselves and say such towns as Racine, Oshkosh, Madison and La Crosse plucking ripe fruit from the national nursery and do not raise a finger to gather some for ourselves. For many years, members of congress from this district were residents of this city but their voices and votes always favored other towns than this. Devotion to local interests never seems to assume even an aspect, form to say nothing of the absence of any danger that it will become chronic. Janesville wants something and wants it badly; let us bid out exactly what it is and make a big effort to accomplish the purpose.

OUR CITY SCHOOLS.

Regular Meeting of the Board of Education.

Some Important Recommendations by Superintendent Keyes.

Preliminary Steps Taken for a New School Building in the Second Ward.

Miscellaneous Business Considered.

The school commissioners convened in regular monthly meeting at the city hall last evening. President St. John being absent, Commissioner Richardson was elected president pro tem. All the commissioners answered to the roll call except Commissioners Smith and St. John.

The journal of the meetings held on December 4th and 22d, 1885, and January 1st and 2d, 1886, was read and approved.

Superintendent Keyes read his monthly report, as follows:

To the Board of Education:

GENERAL.—During the three weeks the schools have been in session since the holidays, the total enrollment has been considerably increased. The attendance has, however, been exceedingly irregular, a fact due largely to the extreme cold weather which has prevailed, and the consequent colds and other ills that seem to show themselves at such times. The work done throughout the city seems to be progressing in a general way.

We have been singularly fortunate in having but one interruption of a teacher's work during the month. Miss Andrews was ill for a day and a half. Miss May Henderson, of the class of '86, supplied the place during that time.

In two words there has been considerable annoyance caused by difficulty in the matter of heating some rooms. This necessitated the dismissal of several schools on such occasions. I do not know that we can help the conditions existing, but I submit it as a question worthy of consideration by this Board, whether a committee be appointed to inquire into the matter carefully, with a view to determining whether there be any available remedy. The facts are that in too many rooms pupils are kept day with the temperature at 55 and 60 degrees as the highest reached. I believe that a high sense of duty would be demonstrated by the enactment of a rule directing teachers to close school for the half day when at thirty minutes after the commencement of the session the thermometer showed a temperature below 65 degrees. Pupils ought not to be kept in such rooms. I trust, however, that such a rule should have ample information on the point to the end that if the buildings are defective, they may be repaired; if the furnaces are inadequate they may be changed; if the manipulation of the heating facilities by any one in the service of the board is improper, it may be corrected. I offer a form of report now in use in two cities of the state's history he represented Rock county in the constitutional convention, and in 1840 he was an assemblyman, and again in 1852. While a democrat of recognized influence he was not a politician, and could always be found in the interests of peace and progress.

Personally, Mr. Hackett was most amiable,—always courteous and friendly, and easy to approach, and his kind disposition and charity has given him probably as many friends as any man in Beloit to date.

Correspondence looking to the completion of arrangements for the restoration of the buildings of graded schools, to be held in this city March 10th, 11th and 12th, is now in progress. It is the purpose to hold the day sessions in the high school. For the evening sessions a central and more commodious hall is desirable if the pleasure of this board to provide one.

To the matter of teachers' examinations I would call your attention briefly. I would ask your indulgence, as there's no specific for piano like salvation. Price 25 cents a bottle.

The most troublesome companion a person can have while away from home, is a conger, and I would advise everybody to procure Dr. Ball's Conger Syrup before starting. (Drummer.)

The Latest Swindling Scheme.

The ubiquitous swindler has evolved a new plan by which to swindle the honest farmer. A chump in clerical broadcloth and white collar enters a farm house and asks for lodgings or dinner, as the case may be. During his stay he announces himself to be a traveling bible distributor in the service of a religious institution, and to assist in the collection for relief and other expenditure in behalf of the same.
